SONOMA COUNTY NEWS

In the Superior Court of Sonoma County there were 242 civil actions commenced during the year of 1906. There were also thirty-eight criminal cases placed on the register of actions and in the probate department there were 171 matters considered.

The bridge across Russian river at Wall's Ford, near Forestville, was seriously damaged last Wednesday when three bents of the big approach to the bridge went out. It is impossible yet to say what the damage will amount to. The safety of the structure is threatened should a heavy freshet occur.

County Clerk Fred L. Wright, reports that on New Year's Eve his register shows that during the year just passed 410 marriage licenses were issued. This is one of the largest showing for years. His books show that during the trying times of last April, Dan Cupid was busier than ever and was the cause of quite a rush at the bureau where passports to happiness were procured.

Sheiff and Tax Collector Frank P. Grace paid into the county treasury Saturday afternoon $332,930.46. This enormous sum was made up as follows: State and county taxes, $298,131.75; special school taxes, $34,318.61; county licenses, $4,35.60; civil fees, $15.50; criminal fines, $29. This is the largest sum that Mr. Grace will deposit in the county treasury in accounting for his stewardship, as he retired from office with the old year.

Sonoma has the greatest diversity of agricultural products of any county in the state of California. She stands first in grapes, wines, berries and hops, second in prunes and oranges, while within her confines everything will grow to the greatest perfection that can be grown outside the tropical regions. In the growth of peaches, apples, pears, cereals, olives and figs Sonoma occupies a rank well to the front.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Prominent sportsmen of Alexander valley have a movement on foot looking toward the introduction of the wild Chinese pheasant into that valley and its foothills. The pheasant in its wild state is a bird with a beautiful plumage and is a fine table delicacy. They multiply very rapidly hatching a brood of perhaps a dozen at a setting. It is thought that they will do well in this county. They are a splendid game bird and the delight of sportsmen hunting them. If a colony is started they will be protected to the full limit of the law.—Enterprise.

The directors of the Cloverdale Citrus Fair Association met Saturday and arranged the special days for the coming annual exhibit, the fourteenth, of the golden fruit raised in that vicinity. The fair opens Tuesday evening, February 19th in a blaze of glory. Wednesday will be "Cloverdale day," Thursday will be "Elks' day," Friday, Washington's birthday will be "Sonoma, Napa and Marin County day," and Saturday will be "Men's day."

HAT SALE

All our stock of the latest and best ladies and misses hats greatly reduced. These goods must go and you can have them almost at your own price, while they last. Come early before the selection is broken. You never before were offered such startling bargains in Sonoma or any where else.

MRS. G. H. HOTZ

Congress will have the president on its hands, only three months, but it will know what it has been through.

WHO WILL WIN

The three new appellate judges for this district will soon draw lots to see which of the three will get the long the medium or short term. The long term is for 12 years, the next for 8 years and the short term for 4 years. Salary is $7,000 per year.

Judges, A. G. Burnett, E. C. Hart and N. B. Chipman are the three new judges and the jurist drawing the longest term will be entitled to $84,000 by the expiration of his 12 years service.

SUPERIOR COURT NOTES.

In the Superior Court of Sonoma County on Monday Ira Trotter applied to the court for letters of administration in the estate of his deceased brother, Frank T. Trotter. The deceased left property valued at $450 in cash in a local bank.

A petition has been filed asking the Superior Court to order the distribution of the property of the estate of Rachael Todd.

A suit was commenced in the Superior Court on Monday by W. C. Harlan, of Santa Rosa, to recover the sum of $1,532 on a promissory note. Colonel L. W. Juillard is the attorney for the plaintiff.

Before the county offices closed for the last time for the old year on Monday afternoon there was a general interchange of good wishes for the new year.

Director Arthur B. Schell

We learn with pleasure of the success of a former well known and popular Sonoma boy, Mr. Arthur B. Schell, who has been interested in mines in Mexico for several years. At the recent annual meeting of the stockholders of the Capuzaya Mining Co. Mr. Schell was elected a director of the company which has been eminently successful for many years. His many friends in this valley will be glad to hear that Mr. Schell is securing a place in his chosen vocation.

A. W. FOSTER RESIGNS

For fourteen years, A. W. Foster has been president of the California Northwestern R'y. He has now resigned and the management of the road has passed into other hands.

The S. P. and Santa Fe have assumed charge of the road. This fact assures the early completion of the road to Eureka, Cal., under the auspices of the two great lines mentioned. It is believed that there will be no other material changes in the personnel of the system and that Ryan, Hunter and others will continue in their respective positions.

Supervisors Meet

The Board of Supervisors held their last meeting for the year 1906 Saturday, and in the afternoon adjourned to meet on January 7th, 1907, on which day the old board will adjourn sine die and the new one will take up the work.

At the meeting the Supervisors passed the ordinance providing for the levying of a bond tax at the time the next levy is made.

A number of claims that went over from the previous meeting to await the apportionment of funds were allowed by the Board.

A number of road and bridge matters were up for consideration and discussion.

GREAT GROWTH

At the D. H. Twing Real Estate Agency may be seen a stock of grape vine, 27 feet in length grown in a ranch in Sonoma Valley near Agua Caliente. Wm. Durant is the efficient foreman of the farm and the product of the place not only speaks volumes for the soil and climate of the valley but also for the skill of the manager of the Halstead place.

Bruening's Bakery

For over a year Bruening's Bakery and Restaurant was located in the Poppe building on the north side of the plaza but on account of an increase in the volume of business it was necessary to obtain larger quarters. He is now located in the Dal Poggetto building on Napa St. above the post office. Bruening's bread and pastry excel in quality and the meals he serves at all hours satisfy the most fastidious.

For a good square meal or anything good to eat in this line call on Bruening. You'll get what you want and you'll be satisfied. Don't forget the place—Bruening's, Dal Poggetto building Napa, street near the post office.

FRIDAY JANUARY 4, 1907

Now the natives of Porto Rico are convinced that a real live president hasn't horns. Only teeth.

Don't think that $10 was the only penalty for Caruso's getting fresh in the New York Zoo. Wait till he meets Mrs. Caruso.

Financial reports state that there is an alarming scarcity of bills.
There will be no such complaints the first of the year however.

A court in Pennsylvania has decided that a rich man must dress his wife elegantly, but kindly gives him permission to wear what he deems pleases.

President Roosevelt will retain simplified spelling for his own use and congress will be allowed to use any of the systems they have previously employed for theirs.

The president has already sent six messages to congress and it is evident that he had laid out enough work for the congressmen to keep them out of mischief until the fourth of next March.

Senator Tillman sent word to the lower house of congress that he would starve to death if the congressional salaries were not increased. It is possibly significant of the sentiment of the house toward Tillman that the measure to increase the salaries was promptly defeated.

J. S. Young, a respected pioneer blacksmith of Sonoma Valley, passed away at his home in El Verano, Sunday night at the age of 70 years.

ing for some time and the end was not altogether unexpected. For Sonoma but of late years had retired from active business pursuits.

He leaves a widow and two grown children, Frank E. Young and Mrs.
E. E. Harris, besides a number of other relatives and friends to mourn his loss.

SEEING GERMANY

A Trip Down The Rhine by a Sonoma Boy

A Land Rich in Ruins and Vineyards

Beautiful Scenery Ably Described

BREMEN, Germany, Dec. 19, 1906

DEAR EDITOR:

Although I always read your paper with great interest, it was not until I had to depend upon it as the chief means of keeping in touch with home affairs that I found out how well this could be done through its columns. The only fault I have to find with it is that it does not appear daily instead of weekly.

Not long ago I made one of those trips which every one must make if he wants to "see Germany," the trip down the famous Rhine.
From that famous old university town, Heidelberg, where I had spent a day among those enchanting surroundings which once seen have a secure corner in the memory of the beholder. I went to Frankfurt to Wiesbaden and then to Rudeshim. Rudeshim is a small city, scarce more than a town, situated on the very banks of the Rhine.

Behind it rises a high hill, which, with a corresponding one across the river, marks the beginning of the interesting part of the trip. Near its summit is the large and majestic National Denkmal (university) Germania, huge, but graceful and beautiful, standing proudly, and facing the distant hills of France, bids defiance to her ancient foe. The view from the base of this Denkmal is magnificent. To the east is a great plain, dotted here and there with small villages and towns as far as one can see. To the south and just across the river is a gap in the low range of mountains through which the Nahe river flows into the Rhine. Further southward is a slightly hilly country and each of its many valleys has its little village. To the west the view is cut off by an abrupt bend in the river, whose channel here is very narrow, only a gorge between the mountains which rise high on either side from the waters' very edge. At night the view was grand. It was dark but the air was clear. Thousands of twinkling lights on either bank marked the course of the river as far as the eye could reach. Only an occasional foot from some river steamer and the soft murmuring of the wind in the woods behind me disturbed the silence. The beauty of the scene was complete. But the darkness and the fact that I was alone on a wooded, unknown hill did not permit me to wander farther and reluctantly I turned back.

The next morning I was a passenger on the only river steamer that still made trips to Cologne. The water was so low that the lines had ceased running. Here and there the dry tops of sand hills could be seen and often the channel was so narrow that but one boat could pass through it at a time.
The passengers had scarcely made themselves comfortable before ruins of old castles, churches and monasteries came into view. Almost all were built on the rockiest and steepest of hillsides. On a base of solid gray rock would rise the equally gray walls of some castle, one could not tell where nature's work ended and man's began. It seems as if the castles were hewn out of the very cliff itself. Gray moss, ivy, and climbing vines aided the delusion and added greatly to the picturesqueness of the scene. Each turn and twist in the river opened up a more attractive, if possible, than the one before. Here on this great cliff whose summit seems almost inaccessible and only a few high walls, their jagged tops outlined sharply against the clear sky, as if in defiance of times' destruction and the neglect of man, on that mass of rock, a castle old and gray but well preserved, the summer abode of the Kaiser, or some worthy nobleman, the guide book tells us. One cannot help envying the possessor of such a beautifully situated home.

Every few minutes our steamer made a landing at some little village. There are any number of them here, every narrow little strip of land which can afford a foothold is occupied and above them usually stands a castle as if to guard them against all foes. This beautiful panorama continued the whole way down to Boppard near Coblenz.

This is also the land of the world-famous Rhine vineyards. Beginning at Rudeshim every available foot of ground is under cultivation.
The whole southern side of the hills here, below the wood is covered with vines. The old gullies and ditches have been deepened and widened, high stone walls keep the earth from falling back, the bottom has been leveled and the result is a good road. These roads form a veritable network through the vineyards and give a queer effect when seen from the river. Most of them were closed at this season however as the vintage had not yet begun, and one might say there would be none, for the crop was almost a total failure this year. The vines were bare of grapes and withered. Not a single bunch half the size of a man's fist could be seen. It was pitiful to see the men who stood guard at the forbidden roads, sadly shake their heads when asked about the cause of the calamity, they did not know the cause but they knew the result only too well. The cultivation of these vineyards is not as simple as the cultivation of ours at home. The vines stand close together scarcely two feet apart, land is precious, consequently all work has to be done by hand and when one remembers that this is not level but very steep, he can begin to appreciate the amount of labor that he has done for naught.

From the steamer's deck one could not notice this deplorable condition and the vineyards presented a beautiful scene. Thus we slowly proceeded down the tortuous course of the river, glad that the shallowness of the water retarded our speed and gave us a better opportunity to enjoy the scenery. At very frequent intervals trains would rush by us on either side for this is the great highway between Cologne, Mainz, Wiesbaden and Frankfurt a. M.
The hoarse "honk honk" of an automobile attracted our attention to the left side of the river where an auto sped rapidly by, its occupants greeting us with blasts from horns and with the waving of handkerchiefs. A strange contrast, this ancient, grim old fortresses and wonder of modern times.

Soon after leaving Boppard we reach Coblenz and from there on the hills began to recede from the river banks and soon the country all about was flat, large towns appeared, important and busy, but they were modern and had not the charm of the first villages we had passed. The scenery grew less interesting, it turned cold, darkness came on and we were glad to seek the shelter of the cabin.

Regretfully we realized that our "Rhine trip" was finished.

How Nature Provides.

OUR BEAUTY, HEALTH AND HAPPINESS.

Is it not possible if not probable that elements necessary for the body-health are contained in the native medicinal roots found in the earth, digested in the plant laboratory of nature and made ready for man or animal?
The medicinal virtues of many American plants and roots were known to the early Indians. Thus a root known to modern physicians as Caulophyllum or Blue Cohosh was known to the Indians as "Squaw root." Another, known to the Indians as "Rattletree root," is used in modern medicine as "Cimicifuga." Prof. King's American Dispensatory, an authority in these matters, says: "Our Indians set a high value on Rattletree root (Black Cohosh) in diseases of women.
It is surpassed by no other drug in congestive conditions of the parts where there are dragging pains and tenderness." After many years of study and experiment Dr. Pierce, the medical director of the "Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute," at Buffalo, N. Y., put up a prescription of his own, containing the nonalcoholic, glyceric extracts of the two
with Golden Seal root, Lady's Slipper root and Unicorn root. Thus, there is no mystery in the make-up of this famous
"Prescription." The use of alcohol is carefully avoided in its manufacture, chemically pure glycerine being found to serve the purpose of extracting and preserving the medicinal properties even better than alcohol.

Learn the Truth. The one medicine for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, ingredients of which are printed on the wrapper of every bottle leaving the great Laboratory in Buffalo, N. Y., where it is made, is called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It Stands Alone not only in ingredients, but also as the only specific advised remedy for woman's diseases which absolutely contains no alcohol.

It Stands Alone as the one medicine for women, the makers of which take their patients fully into their confidence and tell them exactly what they are taking.
This Dr. Pierce can afford to do, because his "Favorite Prescription" is made of such ingredients and after a working formula that has thousands of cures to its credit placing its merits above criticism.

It Stands Alone as Nature's cure for the diseases peculiar to women because the earth supplies the vegetable ingredients.
Mrs. Mary J. Board (Trained Nurse, Washington Hospital), of 705 9th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., writes:
"I felt badly for four years, had terrible pains at times and was often unable to attend to my duties; appetite was poor and sleep was disturbed. I tried many ways without success, but finally my attention was called to Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription and decided to try it. Am certainly glad that I did for I learned to improve myself and the non-

DEATH OF MRS. COWAN

Mrs. Evaline Cowan, wife of S. Cowan, died very suddenly at her home in Kenwood on Thursday morning. While attending to her household duties in the kitchen of her home she fell to the floor and had passed away before medical aid could arrive. Death was undoubtedly due to heart failure.

The deceased was a native of Sonoma county, and was fifty-two years of age. She was a daughter of John Russell, an old pioneer of this county, and she is survived by a husband and several children. Mr. Cowan is a brother of J. F. Cowan of Kenwood, and of Joe Cowan, who also resides in Sonoma Valley.

The funeral is to occur on Saturday morning. Mrs. Cowan's death was a great shock to her family.
